Announcement 2012 Ernst-Eckhard-Koch-Prize

The Society of Friends of Helmholtz-Zentrum Berlin announces the 'Ernst-Eckhard-Koch-Prize'. It is bestowed for outstanding doctoral theses in the field of research with synchrotron radiation performed at either the Helmholtz-Zentrum Berlin (HZB) or HASYLAB at DESY, Hamburg, which were completed during the current or past year. The name of this prize which is awarded annually since 1990 is in memory of the late scientific director of the former BESSY GmbH. The Ernst-Eckhard-Koch-Prize includes a monetary award amounting to 2500 Euro. The awardee will be chosen by a selection committee and the prize presented in a ceremony during this year's Users' Meeting of the HZB on December 13, 2012.

The executive committee of the Society is now calling for proposals of candidates. Closing date:

September 30, 2012

The bestowal of the doctor's degree must have been successfully completed by that time. Scientists who are active in the field of synchrotron radiation research are invited to present a substantiated proposal. This should include the doctoral thesis as printed copy as well as in digital form. In addition the candidates' curriculum vitae, list of publications and preferably two references should be e-mailed to the chairman of the Society (mathias.richterq@ptb.de).
